Two hose reels were hauled to the foot of the hill and the engine was taken by two teams along Main street as far as J. Cameron's residence when notice was received that the fire was out, much to everyone's relief. The muddy state of the roads made the difficulty of hauling the engine very great. The teams used were Jackson and Grierson's and J. R. Brenton's.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPT. 4TH, 1899

THE RAILWAY OUTLOOK.

The fact that a railway company has been chartered and a railway subsidized to the extent of $3,200 in cash per mile to cross the Saskatchewan at Edmonton and run westerly towards the Yellow Head pass makes the outlook very hopeful for Edmonton and all the country to the north and west of the Saskatchewan. But the bare facts as stated do not by any means tell the whole story. Many railway companies are chartered that never build, and frequently subsidies are granted that are never earned. While the action of parliament is a recognition of the present prosperity and future progress of the district, and is a very direct offer of support to that prosperity and aid to that progress, it is not of itself conclusive. The provisions of the subsidy grant, the conditions attached to it, the remarks of the minister of railways in connection, and the surrounding circumstances generally have to be considered to understand the full force and effect of the announcement of a subsidy of $3,200 a mile which appears in the subsidy act of last session and which is as follows:

"To the Edmonton, Yukon and Pacific railway company, for a railway from the town of South Edmonton, Northwest Territories, to North Edmonton, and thence westerly towards the Yellow Head Pass, a distance not exceeding 50 miles."

A subsequent clause of the same act reads as follows:

"The subsidies granted to the Ontario and Rainy River Railway Company, the Canadian Northern Railway Company and the Edmonton, Yukon and Pacific Railway Company are granted upon the condition, and, if received and paid under the authority of this act to the above mentioned companies respectively, shall be received upon the condition, that the said companies shall not, nor shall any of them, at any time amalgamate with, or lease its line or lines to any railway company other than those mentioned in this section, except as may be authorized by parliament; nor shall any of the said railways be leased to or operated by any other company; nor shall any of the said companies make any agreement for a common fund or for pooling its receipts with any other company; and any such lease, amalgamation or agreement shall be absolutely void, except in so far as such agreement may extend to traffic or running arrangements which have been approved by the governor in council."

In explanation of this section the minister of railways said:

"The Canadian Northern Railway Company is the company which has been incorporated by parliament to build a road in extension of what is called the Dauphin line, running up into the Saskatchewan country, and from Swan river, which is the present terminus of the Northern line, in an almost direct westerly course to Edmonton. I think a company has been chartered by act of this parliament to construct a line through to that point. The Edmonton, Yukon and Pacific is the company which has been incorporated by parliament to construct beyond Edmonton, northerly and westerly through either the Peace river pass or the Yellow Head pass, and through to the Pacific coast. These three lines are lines which it may be found desirable hereafter, and in the interest of the whole country, to amalgamate together. That is a possibility of the future, and if they are constructed, as I think they will be, I believe the missing links between them will be built, and when they are built they will contribute an additional transcontinental line."

A lengthy discussion followed in which it appeared that the clause against amalgamation was intended to ensure that the several roads mentioned should constitute a competitor with the C. P. R. from Lake Superior to the Pacific by way of the Saskatchewan valley. The subsidy for the Edmonton section of the road received a great deal of factious opposition from Hon. Mr. Foster, leader of the opposition, so that there was a very full discussion of the whole affair in parliament.

The fact that the several sections of the route have received at one session of parliament in all $1,828,000 in bonuses, and that these and other bonuses already granted by Manitoba and Ontario, are sufficient to ensure the completion of the most expensive and least productive part of the road—most of which is already under contract—with the statements of the minister of railways, the favorable attitude of a large majority on both sides of the house, and the standing and reputation as railway men of Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, who are pushing the project, together constitute an absolute assurance of the early completion of the whole scheme. By this project the whole Saskatchewan valley will be opened for settlement, not by branches, but by a great and ostensibly independent transcontinental line. The country for 250 miles westward to the base of the Rockies will also be opened up. At the same time the agreement between the town of Edmonton and the Edmonton district railway company still holds good with the Edmonton, Yukon and Pacific; so that the local danger which we might otherwise fear in the face of such a great project has been provided against in good time, and does not now exist; even if it had not become a part of the declared policy of the government to protect established interests.

A further amount of bonus equal to that which has been voted this year would be sufficient to establish connection through from Lake Superior to Edmonton, or in other words to fill in the links yet wanting in the chain. There can be no doubt from the temper of parliament and of the government at the late session that the money will be forthcoming when needed, or that it will be needed in good time. Part of the link between Winnipeg and Port Arthur is already completed, a large part more is under contract and work is progressing, two hundred miles of the Great Northern or Dauphin section will be completed this fall, and there is every prospect that work will be pushed on both the Dauphin extension towards Prince Albert and on the Edmonton, Yukon and Pacific, to and west of Edmonton next summer.

An important improvement in the government policy of dealing with western railways is manifested in the subsidy act. Hitherto while western railroads were bonused by western lands and eastern railroads were bonused by cash which western people had to help to pay, in the subsidies of this year no land grants appear, and western railways are placed on the same footing as eastern in receiving a straight cash subsidy of $3,200 a mile. This is a measure of justice to the west that should not go without proper recognition.

SEED GRAIN INDEBTEDNESS.

The following is a copy of the act passed at last session of parliament to provide for the release of secondary securities for advances of seed grain from the government:

"The Governor-General-in-Council may discharge from liability persons who are liable to the crown as sureties upon bonds given to secure repayment for seed grain furnished by the crown to persons in the Northwest Territories in every case where, upon enquiry, it is shown to the satisfaction of the minister of the interior that land owned by, or entered as a homestead by, the primary debtor is liable and is in the opinion of the said minister sufficient security for the sum owed by the primary debtor."

The minister of interior is to be congratulated on having introduced this legislation. By the iron clad arrangement under which the advances of seed grain were made an almost inextricable confusion was created by requiring triple security. The result was that instead of repayment being hastened it was delayed, and many reputable and responsible men were put to loss and inconvenience without benefit to any one. This confusion has been straightened out by releasing as far as may be possible without prejudicing the position of the government as creditor, all secondary securities. Each man will now only be held responsible for what he himself owes, unless under exceptional circumstances. The government has not forgiven the debt, nor reduced its actual security. It has merely released the unnecessary security which it held, and which the great grievance of the parties interested in that connection.

Near Devil's Lake, Assa, is an English speaking settlement. It is asserted that they number 100 souls. It is admitted that there are ten heads of families who recently applied for formation into a school district. As the land upon which they were settled was unsurveyed they could not get homestead entry. The township or townships have now been made Doukhobor reserve, and the English speaking people have the option of purchasing their lands or giving them up. The facts here given are gathered from an editorial column of the Free Press. If the facts are as stated the case is an outrage which will compare in enormity very favorably with some perpetrated by the late government. Incidentally it proves, first that our own people are the pioneers of the west, and second that the introduction of undesirable immigrants checks desirable immigration and settlement.

The following is the explanation of the Victoria, B. C., Colonist, organ of the Turner opposition in the provincial house, of the stand taken by that party on the subject of the probable coalition between the Turner and Martin parties in the house.

"There is not a member of the opposition party in the house, who is not prepared to surrender any claim he may have to consideration in the formation of a new government, if it is necessary to do so in the public interest. And it can add with absolute certainty of its truth, that Mr. Turner will be the first man to set an example in this respect. What Mr. Turner and his political associates want to see secured is good government."

HAMILTON KLONDIKERS

The Hamilton Speculator publishes news contained in letters from Ernest Corp and J. B. Phillips, of that city, on their way to Dawson from Edmonton. They belonged to the large party who left the Mackenzie by way of Gravel river to cross the mountains to the Stewart river. Corp wrote from the mouth of McQuestion river under date of July 25th. They started down on May 26th, and had a hard time getting down owing to shallow water. One boat was wrecked and the cargo lost. A man named MacFarland was drowned at a seven mile portage further up. Corp mentions that he and another man named Willis had joined a Dr. Buck and his father, of Great Falls, Montana.

Phillips crossed the divide from Gravel river on April 5th. The party of which he was the leader had disjoined and divided. Phillips had joined two men named respectively E. Drummond and Green, the latter also of Hamilton.

None of the parties had struck gold in paying quantities.

A LONG TRIP.

The Victoria Times has another chapter of horrors of the Edmonton trail. Every man who reaches the coast by any other means than the railway seems to give the people of the coast cities the shivers. Amongst a party of fifty miners who arrived at the Sound recently by a steamer from St. Michael's were several who had reached the Yukon from Edmonton. Although the others had come from Kotzebue Sound, Cape Horn and other hard luck places in Alaska the Times only set it to enlarge on the hardships of those who went from Edmonton. The others had outlived at the coast. Chas. F. Carson had left Edmonton with horses by the overland trail. His horses died before reaching Lesser Slave lake. With his four partners he went down the Peace and Mackenzie by boat and then up the Peel to Wind city, where 110 men spent last winter, pushing on to the Stewart in the spring. Carson and his partners weakened and returned down the Peel to Macpherson, crossed over to La Pierre's house, and went down the Porcupine and Yukon to St. Michael's. He says: "None of our party was very ill at any time; simply because we had good food." K. Adams had much the same story to tell.

STRATHCONA ITEMS.

Plainsider.

Stevens & Martin's coal sheds have been damaged by high water.

Ned Marks, of Circle city, has sent his mother and sister here some fine gold nuggets.

Mr. Morin, of Three Rivers, Quebec, will open a general merchandise business this fall next door to Halliday's tailor shop.

A curfew by-law is wanted.

The street improvements which the Strathcona council has in progress are grading of the three blocks on Whyte avenue between Niblock and Hardisty streets, sidewalk eight feet wide between Niblock and Main streets on the south side of Whyte avenue, twelve feet wide between Main and Railway streets on the north side of the avenue, and eight feet wide between Railway and Hardisty streets on the south side of the avenue. Good substantial crossings will be put in at all the corners. These improvements will cost in the neighborhood of $1,500, the funds for which will be raised from dog taxes and the rate struck on the assessment after the revision is made.

TROUBLE WITH RUSSIA.

At Hankow, China, within the recent Russian concessions, a British firm who had acquired property before the Russian concession was granted, were prevented from fencing it by Cosacks. The British river gunboat Woodlark came up, landed blue jackets to protect the property, and moved into firing distance of the Russian consulate. The gunboat Pak was sent from Shanghai. The news comes from Shanghai dated Aug. 27th.

FALL WHEAT.

James Gray returned from attending Winnipeg exhibition on Monday's train. On the way back he visited the Pincher Creek settlement with a view of sizing up its agricultural advantages. While there he was much struck by the success which has been met with in experimenting with the rearing of fall wheat. He saw several fields which showed a thickly standing, well headed, and early ripening crop. Four heads which he showed the BULLETIN were each five inches in length with a full number of plump, ripe kernels. Experiments with fall wheat have been carried on at Pincher Creek for years and with complete success. The wheat must be sown in July or early in August of the year preceding that in which it is to be harvested. Experiments with fall wheat have also been made in the Cardston district much further south than Pincher Creek and near the international boundary. There it has also been successful. Both Pincher Creek and Cardston settlements are near the foot of the Rockies and at a high elevation above the sea. The advantage of the fall wheat is its early ripening, being much ahead of the spring sown varieties. In view of the success achieved in the southern country under what would seem to be less advantageous conditions, it might be well for farmers in this district to carry their experiments further than they have hitherto done. Although it is but fair to say that such experiments as have been made have generally been successful.

INNERAIL AND OLD ITEMS.

Free Lance, Aug. 30.

The Maccahees are organizing, also the Foresters. Haying is in full swing, with fine weather. Judge McMillan of Cayuga, Ont., was in town last week. He will visit Edmonton. Captain E. Barrett, of Houston, Texas, and eight farmer delegates, representing forty families will be in town to-day. The postmaster has been notified that when trains arrive late, if before 10 or 10:30 p.m. he must sort the mails and open the wicket the same night. Rev. Freeman of Edmonton, visited Olds last week. Dominion government has purchased the Tindal creamery. The little Red Deer ferry has gone. Side-walks are being built in Olds by public subscription. Considerable sickness amongst children is reported at Olds.

POLICE SUPPLIES

At Edmonton: 32,000 pounds oats, 60 tons coal.

At St. Albert: 15 cords wood, 13 tons coal.

Ten per cent of the amount must accompany each tender. All timber does must be paid by the contractor.

INDIANS IN DANGER

We congratulate the government for having appointed a commission who will grant scrip to the half-breeds of this country, next fall. That was justice.

Still the public would have looked more favorably on the commission being authorized, only to grant scrip to the half-breeds, and that it should have received instruction to refuse them to the Indians who live on the reserves depending upon the department.

In fact, most of them will be able to prove before the commission, that they are not full blood Indians, and consequently, have a right to scrip. That is what a great number of them intend to do.

We will probably see next fall, many of these pretended half-breeds, who are in reality true Indians, in every manner, give up their reserves to take scrip that they will waste within a few weeks. And what will they become afterwards?

They will go and increase the number of Indians the department has abandoned, some years ago, in like occasion, and now live a miserable life in the surroundings of cities or elsewhere, being a real burden to the public; or else, urged by hunger and misery, they will go back to the reserves, harassing those of their relatives or friends having remained there. So they will be a cause of uneasiness and displeasure. That is the story of all the Indians the department has discharged.

In 1885-86 a great number of Indians have obtained scrip. Entire reserves became deserted. What have those poor people become? Can we find, at least a few families having succeeded to make themselves a home? No, not one. We cannot even find one who does not go begging bread now and then.

Those "scrip Indians" as they are called are now almost all completely demoralized, and they are, in every respect inferior to the Indians who have stayed under the dependence of the department. These results, every one knows about, ought, however, to be well acknowledged by those who govern. And it is not the duty of the government who has inherited the rich lands of this country to save from ruin the natives who have yielded them?

Besides, many of these Indians, having obtained scrip will still be, as experience has proved, more or less a charge to the department, without the least hope of making with them decent citizens, having lost authority over them.

And we know that one of the greatest riches of the country is "ranching" becoming more and more important. The "ranchers" who are getting more and more numerous, have a right to the protection of the government. Many have already complained of their cattle disappearing, and in most cases they suspect these individuals who have no home and camp every where. What will happen if the department abandon entire bands of Indians unable to live by themselves? Hunger leads to many things.

THE BRIDGE

A. St. Laurent, government engineer, arrived on Friday's train. The delay in Mr. St. Laurent's coming was due to the fact that at the time he was first wired for when the great rise of water took place he was in Cape Breton at a point not touched by telegraph. It was therefore some time before he was reached by wire and before he could close up the work in hand so that he could leave it. In view of the reports received the department had decided to raise the height of the piers and Mr. St. Laurent was further delayed in arranging for the cement to be used in the work. Mr. St. Laurent's instructions were to increase the height of the piers seven feet, but on reaching here he found of consultation with Mr. Stewart, who had made accurate measurements of the water at the time, that it had been two feet higher than the government had calculated on. He will therefore recommend to the government that the piers be increased nine feet in height. As the floor of the bridge will be five feet above the bridge seats of the piers a very considerable fill will be needed on the south shore and a small fill on the north shore as well. Instead of undertaking the work of raising the piers himself Mr. St. Laurent will if possible let the contract to the bridge company, who having a competent engineer of their own on the ground—Mr. Stewart—and a gang of men, are in a position to do the work more quickly. No time will be lost in making arrangements, and Mr. Stewart is at once commencing to gather stone for the work. In case the company do not get the contract the stone will be used in the work by Mr. St. Laurent. 400 barrels of cement are already ordered and are probably on the way to Edmonton. The southern abutment and pier will be raised first, so that by the time the rest of the piers have been raised these will be ready to receive the first span of the bridge. Mr. St. Laurent expects to have the work of raising the piers completed within six weeks of the time the water has lowered sufficiently to get to work. The completion of the superstructure will only be delayed to that extent. While the work of raising the piers is going on arrangements will be made for the approaches as well. Mr. St. Laurent will establish himself here until the work is completed. The superstructure has been finished for some time in Montreal. The iron work for one complete span is already at Edmonton and Calgary.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

The concert given by the Apollo Glee Club on Thursday evening last in Robertson Hall was not as well attended as its merits deserved, owing chiefly to the unfavorable weather. The members acquitted themselves excellently and were heartily applauded. The programme was as follows:

Selection by the orchestra.
Part song, "True Unto Death."
Song, "I Fear no Fear," Rev. H. A. Gray.
Duet, "The Fisherman," Messrs. McIntyre and Johnson. Encore.
Song, "The Anchor's Weighed," Mr. Heathcote. Encore, "Sally in our Alley."
Glee, "The Two Roses." Encore.
Pianoforte solo, "Polish Dance," A. McCauley.
Song, "Oh Keep the Baby Warm," Crispin E. Smith. Encore.
Glee, "Huntsman's Farewell."
Selection by orchestra.
Part song, "March."
Song, "Forging the Anchor," A. G. Randall. Encore.
Violin solo, "Angel's Serenade," H. L. McClinton. Encore.
Song, "The Flight of Ages," J. L. Johnson. Encore.
Glee, "The Ruined Chapel."
Song, "Pepita," Crispin E. Smith. Encore, recitation, "The Mother and Child were there."
Song, "Two Cities," H. A. Gray.
Part song, "Waltz."
God Save the Queen.

Special mention may be made of the part taken by Mr. Crispin E. Smith, of Calgary, who so kindly assisted. Mr. Smith's reputation extends far beyond the bounds of the city that claims him as a resident, and the part taken by him in Thursday's concert fully sustained that reputation.

STONY PLAIN.

C. Pratt of Republic Washington, U. S. brother-in-law to P. S. Washbourn, who emigrated here from Iowa last winter, arrived here on the 20th. Upon representations made to him by his brother-in-law he came to remain in the district as a business location, and it is most refreshing to witness the usual sound speculative judgment and prompt action that is so characteristic of our American cousins. The exceptional situation of this agricultural district, (its long distance from Edmonton), the magnitude of the settlement itself and the plain evidence of the prosperity which provides the same, prompted him to secure action and purchase 2 acres of land from J. L. Macdonald, post master, and on the 23rd had in process of erection a building 20x40 and one and a half stories high in which he will conduct a wholesale and retail store. In addition to this Mr. Pratt intends putting up another building in which he will carry on a blacksmith and wood working industry. It has always been the consensus of opinion among Stony Plain people that the situation of Mr. Macdonald's farm as a business location was second to none in the country, so we must congratulate Mr. Pratt upon his good judgment and fortune. And Mr. Washbourn we must thank heartily for introducing such a good citizen, whose business will fill a long felt want in this community. Thus it will be seen that all the assistance which Alberta requires in regard to immigration is provided by her resources be laid bare to men of intelligence and action; and no public money had to be spent in assisting objectionable people to profit by these resources, who for a long time are destined to remain a hindrance to social progress and an ailment in the general composition of the future population.

CROP REPORT

STONY PLAIN, Aug. 30, '99.

Harvesting commenced within the time predicted in crop communication, with adverse weather prevailing. Slight frost on the 25th inst. of local character. No report of any damage sustained.

The great danger now lies with those farmers who have not any binders and who have to depend upon neighbors to do their cutting, owing to the lateness of the season and adverse weather prevailing. These have about ten per cent of the yield. But the generally accepted greatest danger to be guarded against this unusually wet season is in the stacking. As heretofore the climatic conditions prevailing at this time of year, since farming commenced in Alberta, have been superb for gathering the harvest and placing it in "position" for the threshing machine. Little pains being bestowed upon the art of stacking as is done in wet climates, and consequently in the great majority of cases through the country we have found the grain simply piled up so to speak, more for the purpose of facilitating threshing than as a process of curing or a protection from the inclemency of the weather. This year we are confronted with two adverse conditions, viz: green straw and wet weather. Heretofore the straw has always ripened as soon as the grain, this year it has gone exactly the opposite; the straw generally being comparatively green. Hence the greatest care should be taken in stacking, as we are liable in taking advantage of the dry weather to do too much, rather than do it well, and thereby suffer loss. It will take at least till the first week in October to complete stacking, should the present unfavorable weather continue, and therefore threshing will be necessarily late, and will no doubt extend well on in the winter, so grain should be stacked well to keep it from heating. One-third of the crop is cut at this writing. This week has been the most favorable for cutting since harvest commenced; but it rained heavily and hailed lightly this afternoon, accompanied by wind. No damage done in immediate vicinity (Stony Plain Centre). Clear again and settled looking and binders working late.

A YUKON DISASTER.

A Seattle despatch says that the bodies of Holmes, of Fresno, Cal.; Moffatt, of Pembroke, Ont.; Bellevue, of Duluth, and Dr. Allen have been found on the headwaters of the Porcupine river. The men mentioned were members of several different parties who left Edmonton in the fall of '97. They wintered about Great Slave lake, and in the spring of 1898, crossed over the Rocky Mountains to the Porcupine river by the pass from Fort Macpherson to La Pierre's House. Instead of going direct to Dawson down the Porcupine and up the Yukon, they with others decided to prospect the upper waters of the Porcupine, which heads about 200 miles from Dawson, intending if they did not strike anything to go on during the winter to Dawson by the winter route followed by Mr. Ogilvie some years before. They had reached the headwaters about the time winter set in. Bellevue had accidentally frozen his feet and was unable to go on without help. As there was no trail it was decided that Moffett and Holmes would remain with Bellevue while the others pushed on as quickly as possible and returned with help. When they got back it was found that Bellevue and the others had started down the river for La Pierre's House. The relief party were unable to follow them, and, if the report of the finding of the bodies is true, they perished by the way. In the reports of the affair made last winter Allen's name was not mentioned.

Of course the despatch credits this disaster to the Edmonton trail. Certainly the men had started from Edmonton, but had reached the waters of the Yukon safely. Had they continued on the recognized route to Dawson the disaster could not have happened. It occurred in the taking of the ordinary chances of the prospector in such a country with such a climate as the Yukon, and did not occur on the Edmonton trail.
